Safer Rider Workshops

Motorcyclists across Suffolk are being given the opportunity to improve their riding skills to have better awareness and ability while on the road at 'Safe Rider' motorcycle workshops.

Safe Rider is a joint initiative between Norfolk and Suffolk Constabularies aimed at reducing the number of motorcycle casualties across the counties.

In 2013, 25 people were killed on Suffolk's roads, nine of which were motorcyclists. The number of deaths saw an increase of three from 2012 when a total 24 people died on the counties roads where six were motorcyclists.

The two day workshops will run from April through to September, the months when it is considered more motorcyclists take to the roads in the warmer weather.

The workshops are aimed at all fully qualified riders who want to improve their skills to become better and safer riders.

PC Kevin Stark from Suffolk Constabulary's Serious Collision Investigation Team who is organising the workshops said: "Reducing the number of people who are killed or seriously injured on the county's roads remains a priority for us and sadly the statistics speak for themselves that each year a high percentage of those killed on our roads are motorcyclists.

"The underlying message of the workshops is that education is key, not enforcement.

"The workshops give motorcyclists greater awareness of the hazards they may face when out and about to help them become better and safer riders."

Safe Rider courses are aimed at riders living in Suffolk and are run with the support of Suffolk Roadsafes and funding from the Copdock Classic Motorcycle Club.

The workshops cost £50 per person and are held at Suffolk Police Headquarters, Martleham Heath, Ipswich.

They start at 7pm on a Friday evening with classroom sessions on the system of road craft, with particular attention given to positioning and cornering.

The next morning, there will be an escorted ride out session with a class 1 police motorcyclist. A maximum 3:1 ratio ensures an accurate and personalised assessment of riding performance.

First aid sessions take place on the Saturday afternoon provided by Suffolk Fire and Rescue, a new partnership for 2014.

The workshop dates for 2014 are: April 25/26, May 23/24, June 13/14, July 18/19, August 22/23, September 26/27
